

an information against the Transit Milling Co., a corporation, Sherman, Tex., alleging shipment by said defendant in violation of the Food and Drugs Act or on about October 30, 1937, from the State of Texas into the State of Kansas of a quantity of cottonseed screenings which were misbranded. The article was labeled in part: "Tranco Brand."

It was alleged to be misbranded in that the statement "Protein not less than 43%," borne on the tag, was false and misleading since it contained not more than 40.75 percent of protein.

On November 28, 1938, a plea of guilty was entered on behalf of the defendant and the court imposed a fine of $50.

30185. Adulteration of whisky. U. S. v. 7½ Cases and 41 Pint Bottles of Whisky and 1 other seizure against the same product). Default decrees of condemnation and destruction. (F. & D. Nos. 44538, 44556. Sample Nos. 34351-D, 34352-D, 34362-D, 34363-D.)

This product contained excessive quantities of an aldehyde.

On December 16 and December 20, 1938, the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, acting upon reports by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court libels praying seizure and condemnation of 7½ cases, each containing 12 quart bottles, 78 pint bottles, and 31 quart bottles of whisky at Washington, D. C.; alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce by Philip Blum & Co., Inc., from Chicago, Ill., within the period from on or about October 8, 1938, to on or about October 24, 1938; and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "Old Curtis Brand * * * Straight Bourbon Whisky Bottled by Wakem & McLaughlin, Inc., Chicago, Ill. * * * Distilled by Tom Moore Distillery Co. Bardstown, Kentucky."

Adulteration was alleged in that a substance containing excessive quantities of an aldehyde had been mixed and packed with the article so as to reduce or lower its quality or strength and had been substituted wholly or in part for whisky, which the article purported to be.

On February 14, 1939, no claimant having appeared, judgments of condemnation were entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
